Springfield, O., Dec. 29.—Rev. Wilbur L. Y. Davis, pastor of the High Street Methodist church, and one of the most prominent divines in this city, while preaching from his pulpit Monday morning, was stricken almost entirely blind, and was removed to the hospital. He had just reached the climax of his talk, which was given before all the Masonic lodges of the city, when everything was lost in a red haze. With rare presence of mind he concluded his remarks and left the platform. A physician was called who pronounced it an instance of the bursting of a blood vessel in the interior of his eye, which leaves him all but helpless.

"SWEET HOME" NOT FOR PAYNE.

Writer of Song Frequently Without Place to Lay His Head.

The song we know so well as "Home, Sweet Home," was originally "Sweet Home," and John Howard Payne was formerly known as J. Howard Payne. The disillusioning process keeps on apace. It is well known that army bands in time of war are forbidden to play "Sweet Home" on account of the large number of desertions it causes. An officer with the fleet, writing to a friend, referred to the time in these words: "We allow it occasionally at sea, where the men could not possibly desert without leaping overboard; but when on shore—never!" Imagine what a powerful influence such a tune must have on a homesick man, thousands of miles from wife, mother, sweetheart, babies! Howard Payne's life was one of remarkable vicissitudes. Of an evening he would stroll along the streets looking into the brilliantly lighted parlors. Once in awhile he would see a family circle so happy and forming so beautiful a group that he would stop, gaze upon the scene, and with a sigh pass on. "How often," said he to an intimate friend, "have I been in the heart of Paris, Berlin, London, or some other city, and heard persons singing, or the hand organ playing, 'Sweet Home,' without a shilling to put the next meal or a place to put my head. The world has, literally, sung it until every heart is familiar with its melody; yes, I have been a wanderer from my boyhood."

WHALE MUST HAVE HAD ORDERS.

According to Showman, Leviathan Waited Long for Jonah.

The Bishop of Marlborough told a story in opening the St. Thomas sale of work at Exeter, to illustrate the difficulty which confronted church workers in days gone by, says the London Standard. Sixty years ago he made a strenuous effort to stimulate parochial life in the direction of amusement, but it was, he said, a bad failure. The only thing which he could recollect of the details now was that there was a smoky magic lantern which had been used at Haldon races, and was "caught hold of" by a young farmer as a proper thing with which to give an entertainment in the parish, but it was simply an exhibition of animals, and the room, being dark and the showman not first rate, it was a miserable affair. Suddenly the showman said: "You know, children, I am exhibiting the animals that came out of the ark." Unfortunately, the next thing he exhibited was a whale, and a little boy exclaimed: "There weren't no whale in the ark." But the showman was equal to the occasion, and replied: "No, little boy, the whale wasn't there; it was waiting for Jonah."

Literary Pioneers.

Polite literature, so far as this country is concerned, undoubtedly has its fountainhead in the writings of Washington Irving; but the first literature to have the positive American smack and flavor were the novels of J. Fenimore Cooper. Cooper's novels were a revelation to the old world of the fact that in the new world a fresh vein had been struck, something that was as much American as Dante was medieval or Virgil and Cicero classical. It is not too much to call Cooper the Columbus of American literature. Charles Brockden Brown, a much greater genius than Cooper, approaching in the subtlety of his intellect the greatest of the ancients, was prevented by his morbidity and introspectiveness from gaining the palm which passed to the author of the "Deer-slayer" and the "Pathfinder."

Hadherway.
The oldest named country home is in Jackson county, according to a Columbian who is a friend of the owner. The name as it appears at the front gate is "Hadherway," and never fails to attract attention from passersby. For years the wife wanted to leave Kansas City and go to a farm. When the family finally moved they named the home "Hadherway."—Columbia Herald.

Remedy for Hives.
Rhubarb and soda may be used with good effect. A dessertspoonful should be taken every two or three hours. The itching may be relieved by applying a lotion consisting of equal parts of spirits of camphor, water of ammonia and alcohol. This lotion may be used as required.

Irish Cows Good Milkers.
Irish cows yield from 300 gallons of milk to over 1,000. In one case the yield was 1,469 gallons.

Don't Get Mad.
Our own anger, indeed, does us more harm than the thing which makes us angry; and we suffer much more from the anger and vexation which we allow acts to rouse in us, than we do from the acts themselves at which we are angry and vexed. How much most people, for instance, allow themselves to be distracted and disturbed by quarrels and family disputes. Yet in nine cases out of ten one ought not to suffer from being found fault with. If the condemnation is just, it should be welcome as a warning; if it is undeserved, why should we allow it to distress us?—Sir John Lubbock.

Greek Fire.
Greek fire was a combustible composition (now unknown, but thought to have been principally sulphur) thrown from engines said to have been invented by Callinicus, an engineer of Heliopolis in Syria in the seventh century, to destroy the Saracens' ships (which was effected by the general of the fleet of Constantine Pogonatus and 39,000 men were killed). A so-called "Greek fire," probably a solution of phosphorus in bisulphide of the carbon, was employed at the siege of Charleston in 1862.

A Noble Parent.

ACT QUICKLY.

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Canfield.
